Summary

I am better known as Yeye, currently a NQF Level 5 (Information Technology in System's Development) candidate at WeThinkCode .

My time at WeThinkCode_ is preceded by a brief career as a Social Worker, which for various reasons left me wanting something more challenging. The WeThinkCode aptitude test turned out to be not only the challenge I was looking for, but also something that I really enjoy.

The program has helped me further develop my problem solving skills, and furthermore exposed me to various technologies and programming languages. I have also learned to work as an individual and as well as part of the a team, which I believe is preparing me for a life as a member of real world team and project.

My background in both Social Work and Customer Services, paired with my problem solving skills will help me become part of an organisation that delivers solutions that help and bring value to customers.

I look forward to being part of the change towards the future.
